

The King: Heading Out To Waveland

Saddleback will lose the kingpin of its Kinesiology & Athletics Division this summer as Tony "The Free Throw King" Lipold rides a long wave on a longboard toward a beach somewhere following his retirement.

Tony started his educational career in 1975, spending his first 15 years as a high school basketball coach, social science instructor, activities director, and assistant principal. In 1989 he moved to the community college level, joining Long Beach City College where he worked in student affairs, physical education, coached basketball, and served as the interim Dean of Student Services.

He joined the Saddleback College staff in 2000 as Athletic Director and added the duties of Dean of Kinesiology & Athletics in 2005. It was his idea to start this golf tournament as a fundraiser for the entire Kinesiology & Athletics division.

"Becoming the Athletic Director at Saddleback College was absolutely a dream come true. I have been fortunate to work at some really good schools with great people who have all helped me become the person I am today. I can honestly say that doing what I love - and getting paid for doing it - has made my life as an educator and a coach absolutely wonderful. I love the interaction with the student-athletes, the coaches, the fans, and my colleagues. There is nothing like the atmosphere we have created at Saddleback College in the Kinesiology and Athletics Division. We have great people who really care about the students and each other. It truly is a family!"

In addition to his work at Saddleback, Tony has also served as president of the CCCAA Management Council, the California Community College Athletic Director's Association, the Orange Empire Conference, and the SCFA National Division Southern League.

After working in education for the past 42 years he's looking forward to spending more time doing other things: surfing, camping, fishing, traveling, and going to sporting events.

Tony and his wife, Rae Lynn, live in Laguna Niguel and share their lives with Tony's sons, TJ and Chris, and Rae Lynn's children, Lyndsey and Derek.

Tony has certainly helped to shape our division and our college into one of the premier Kinesiology and Athletics divisions in the state. Thank you for joining us this year as we say goodbye and good luck to . . . The Free Throw King.

Entry Forms: Submit either a team (up to 4 players) or an individual entry on the form on the back of this page. Acceptance will be awarded on a first-come, first-served basis with the submittal of the entry fee as the confirmation. If capacity is not reached before May 31, walk-ins will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis at the $200 rate.

Team Reservations: Team captains will be responsible for submitting the entire amount of the team entry fee. Four individual checks may be sent so that each person receives a tax deduction for charitable contributions.

Individual Reservations: Individuals wishing to play may do so by filling out an entry form. Teams will be formed by combining individual reservations into groups of four.

We will use a four-man Scramble format for this year's tournament. Each player will hit a drive and the team will decide on which drive to use. All players will move their ball within one club length of this spot to hit their second shots. Once a shot reaches the green, place your ball within a clubhead of the mark and each person putts from there. Prizes are offered in four flights, including three men's flights (separated at a natural break) and a co-ed flight.

Rain: In the event of rain, the dinner and prize distribution will still be held at the Arroyo Trabuco Golf Club and your entry fee becomes a donation. The actual donation to the Saddleback Foundation is $50 per person. You will receive a receipt in accordance with tax laws.

Every player receives: 18 holes of golf with electric cart, range balls, tee package, snacks, box lunch, beverages, a season pass to Gaucho home games, and a post-tournament BBQ dinner.
